Seisser captured at mother's house

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The man arrested in connection with the murder of James "Buddy" Clubb is expected to arrive in Granite City today.

James Albert Seisser was arrested at 11 a.m. Monday by Columbia, Tenn., police. He was found at the home of his mother, Evelyn Woodham, said Columbia Police Chief Hugh Harris.

THE COLUMBIA police received a teletype from Granite City police shortly after the murder. The message said Seisser, a former Columbia resident, could be going to the area.

A Columbia detective and three officers were sent to the Woodham home, Harris said, because they believed Seisser was armed and dangerous.

When authorities arrived, they found Seisser unarmed and talking on the phone. He did not resist arrest, Harris said.

ON TUESDAY, Seisser appeared before a Maruy County, Tenn., judge and waived extradition.

Detective Dave Rosenberg of the Granite City Police Department and a Madison County deputy sheriff went to Columbia Wednesday to return Seisser to Granite City.

SEISSER allegedly shot Clubb in the abdomen with a .38 caliber revolver on March 4 in an apartment building at 1728 Cleveland Blvd. Both men lived in the building.

Clubb died at 12:50 a.m. the following day at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Police at one time believed that Seisser, who was at large until Monday, was in the Cottage Hills area.

$13 million in IRBs asked by village

By Joan Pace

Thirteen million dollars in industrial project revenue bonds has been requested of the Village of Pontoon Beach.

B.T.L. Enterprises, represented by attorney John P. Gibbons, seeks a $3.5 million bond issue for a motel complex, $4 million for a retail shopping mall complex, $2.5 million for a department store, and a $3 million bond issue for an apartment complex.

The project would be located on the 68-acre tract at the southwest corner of Illinois 111 and Engineers Road.

An annexation agreement has been signed by B.T.L. Enterprises.

"We've been working on this project for quite awhile, and we're very proud of this opportunity," said Village President Glen Wilson. "It's a sure sign we're growing and that we have a lot of opportunity for growth.

"This is a very good start for us," he said.

During Tuesday's Board of Trustees meeting, a resolution was passed authorizing the formation of a special district to provide taxation for the area and funding for all utilities.

A public hearing concerning the project will be scheduled at a later date.

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon's office has indicated its support of Pontoon Beach's efforts to secure its own post office. Village Clerk Mary Warren told board members Tuesday night a representative of Simon, Rafael Anglada, telephoned to relay Simon's interest as well as his desire to assist and support Pontoon Beach. Warren said Simon's office indicated plans to

GC school board policies changing

By Bill Milligan

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Policies concerning seniority and school admission requirements were unanimously adopted March 25 by Community Unit School District 9.

The board amended curriculum tiebreaker regulations to more clearly determine seniority between teachers who began working with the district on the same date.

Decisions on who to keep and who is to be honorably dismissed will be based on six criteria. They include years with the district, outside teaching experience, degree, college credit hours and attendance.

In the event a tie still exists, the board reserves the right to use its discretion; free from consideration of race, religion, national origin, age or union affiliation.

New policies on admissions will require kindergarten, first and fifth graders to provide birth certificates, physical examination forms, immunization records, dental exam forms and emergency information at time of registration.

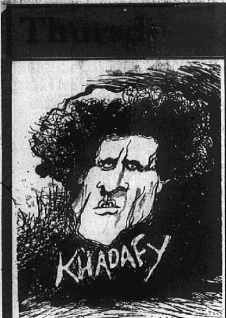

Health exams must be performed within one year of entering kindergarten, first or fifth grades. Special education students must have taken the exams within one year of their fifth, 10th or 14th birthdays.

Under prior board admission policies, students entering fifth and ninth grade were required to provide physical exams, immunization records and dental exams. New policy requires ninth graders to provide these three items of information when registering for school.

Transfer students have 30 days from the time of enrollment to provide the necessary health records to the school. Out of state transfers must provide current health exams regardless of current school year.

During the meeting school officials adopted a tentative school calendar for 1986-87. School begins August 26 and will end on or around June 11, 1987.

High school Principal Gib Walsley announced 1986 graduation ceremonies will be May 30 at 8 p.m. on the high school football field.

Despite protest by the Commercial Club, the City Council March 24 awarded Bell Telephone Co. a franchise to string wire and operate telephones in Granite City. Opponents of the measure claimed Bell is charging one-third more here than in Belleville or Collinsville. Aldermen refused to recognize Commercial Club spokesmen at the meeting.

MAYOR-FOR-A-DAY is C. Edward Bodnam as Mayor Von Dee Cruise looks on. Members of the local DeMolay chapter filled city offices last Thursday as part of "My Government Day."

He's mayor for a day

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city clerk had a punk hair cut, the city treasurer was named "Bruser," and the fire chief was a cross-country runner.

It was only for one day; however, last Thursday at City Hall would be a day a group of young men would remember for a long time.

SIX MEMBERS of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay served as city officials for a day observing "My Government Day" and as part of the celebration of DeMolay Week, observed March 16-23.

Members of the chapter that participated were C. Edward Bodnam as mayor, Terry Cory as city clerk, Chris Brewer as treasurer, Charles Yaber Jr. as police chief, Paul Brandt Jr. as fire chief and Greg Sipes as assessor.

THE DAY started with a informal meeting in the mayor's conference room between the young men and the city officials they were to replace for the day.

They all sat around the conference table and laughed as they looked at a scrapbook of old newspaper articles dating back to the 1930s and saw the hair styles, clothing and the girls of the time.

The young men were amazed at a article from the Granite City Press-Record advertising an annual DeMolay chili supper with chili being 50 cents a bowl. This year it was $2.50.

THE MEMBERS listened to one man who joined DeMolay in 1952, Bill Harris, as he shared his memories about the organization.

Today, he's the police chief. "I had a lot of good times in DeMolays," Harris said. "I played on the baseball team and went to Chicago once for a convale."

GC grads eligible for tuition waiver

By Bill Milligan

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Under terms of a contract between District 9 and Belleville Area College, 19 Granite City students could receive full tuition waivers next year.

The contract was signed by both school districts when BAC bought the old Granite City North High School in 1985. Language in the agreement called for a tuition waiver for Granite City students to be in place for the 1986 school year.

Students will be eligible for $400 tuition waivers each semester. The waivers are open to all Granite City residents, not necessarily GC graduates.

Applicants for tuition waivers must be enrolled in more than 12 credit-hours at the Granite City Campus of BAC and submit an application for the waiver prior to May 1 for the fall semester.

A screening committee, consisting of high school guidance counselors, administrators, a member of the GCC staff and a member of District 9's Citizen Advisory Council, will award all tuition waivers.

Among the waiver guidelines accepted by District 9 School Board members on Tuesday night were provisions for a personal statement and the lack of any other type of scholarship or grant being received by the applicant.

AS IT HAPPENS: Voters watch in the Madison County Courthouse, Edwardsville, during the primary election on March 18 as election results are presented on a display

Election went smoothly; one complaint answered

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

Executive editor
GRANITE CITY - The March 18 election went quickly, said County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

"It went very smoothly," Bowles said. Following the conclusion Monday of vote tallies that included counts for precinct commitment, she said there were only three complaints, including one forwarded by the Press-Record.

A person claiming to be an election judge told the newspaper he did not like being excluded from the computer room while election information was being entered in to the computer.

Bowles affirmed that persons were not allowed into the computer room. She said the equipment is delicate and a large number of persons in the room offered the potential for damage.

However, if party members had requested, she said a representative of each party would have been allowed into the computer room. The request was not made, she said.

Election results were produced more quickly than Bowles anticipated, ending at 12:40 a.m.

March 19. She'd estimated the work would last at least until 2 a.m., despite the low voter turnout.

"I can remember the days when we were here all day Tuesday and all day Wednesday and into Wednesday night to wrap it up," she said.

Though the computer played a key role, she gives credit for the quick return of election results to her staff.

"It takes a lot of human beings doing a really, really good job" to make the computer produce the desired results, she said.

In the primary, Bowles ran unopposed for county clerk for the Democratic Party. No Republicans ran for the office.

Approval given for rezoning

A new fast-food restaurant will be coming to Granite City.

The Granite City Council has approved a favorable recommendation from the city's plan commission on a request from Donald Brickell of Madison to rezone property at 29th Street and Madison Avenue for construction of a Popeye's chicken restaurant.

The property will be rezoned from single-residence (R-3) to central business commercial (C-4).

The council also approved a recommendation to annex property at 2329 Gary Ave. and 2624 Pine St. into the city.

The aldermen denied a request from Patricia Crook that property at 2696 Iowa St. be rezoned from R-3 to C-4 for the use of a laundromat.

They also denied a request from M.H. Wolfe & Co. that property where 25th Street intersects the railroad tracks be rezoned from R-2 to warehouse industrial (M-1). The council tabled action on a recommendation from the commission that Bennie Maddox's property at 1640 E. 23rd St. be rezoned from R-3 to C-4.

The intended use of the land is for a wholesale trading company, with wholesale and retail sales, a showroom and a warehouse, and rental apartments on the second floor.

Further delay in power rate hike

Illinois Power customers will get a further reprieve from higher electric rates because the loading of nuclear fuel at the Clinton plant will be delayed for an indefinite period, IP officials said March 19.

The delay in the fuel-loading also means a delay in a 9 percent overall rate increase approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission last year tied to the fuel-loading "milestone."

IP had earlier projected fuel loading would occur in late January and then revised it to the end of March.

Last week, utility officials announced the fuel loading would not happen this month and said they could not predict when it would occur.

IP spokesman Al Adams said the major reason for the further delay was that the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission was now requiring a number of tests to be done before fuel loading that for other power plants earlier had been done after fuel loading.

Illinois Power will seek to load fuel when management is satisfied all conditions are properly met to the satisfaction of the NRC, he added.

IP President Wendell Kelly said the firm was "going to take all the time necessary to build an absolutely safe plant."

Locher seeks removal of judge

Controversy surrounding two criminal cases involving James V. Barton, former Madison County supervisor of assessments, became even more heated March 9.

Bruce D. Locher, the special prosecutor assigned to the cases, filed a motion for removal of Associate Judge Charles V. Romani as the presiding judge in one of the cases. Locher claimed Romani is biased against the prosecution.

In the other case, Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson on March 19 directed Locher to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

Locher, a Springfield lawyer appointed special prosecutor pursuant to an order of the Illinois Supreme Court, failed to meet a Monday deadline set by Ferguson or answering defense questions regarding his employment as a public defender in Sangamon County.

Locher refused to take the witness stand to answer such questions during a hearing in February before Ferguson. Attorneys for Barton contended it was a conflict of interest for Locher to serve as a special prosecutor while he is a public defender.

In an order filed Wednesday, Ferguson ruled against the motion to disqualify Locher, but directed him to show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

However, Ferguson said the contempt matter would not be considered until after disposition of the charges, which were brought against Barton in 1982.

"The court intends to do nothing at this time to delay or impede the trial of this case," Ferguson said in the order.

In reaching his decision, Ferguson invoked the provisions of civil procedure under which facts not specifically denied are deemed admitted, thus presuming that Locher is in fact a public defender in Sangamon County.

Ferguson said Barton was entitled to raise the question of Locher's standing. Ferguson said he appointed Locher in the 1982 case and that "any party who wishes to bring an issue as to his ability to faithfully perform the duties of that office is entitled and encouraged to bring it to my attention."

However, Ferguson found that Locher was not barred from prosecuting the case because his holding of the public defender position does not violate Barton's constitutional guarantee to a fair trial.

Ferguson said he hopes to begin trial during the week of April 14.

In the 1982 case, Barton is charged with bribery and conspiracy to commit bribery. The charges specify that Barton accepted $1,000 from Madison-area developer William Nichols, and then gave $500 of the money to Walter "Shang" Greathouse to influence Greathouse in performance of duties as a commissioner of the Metro East Sanitary District and as a member of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals.

Charges were brought against Greathouse but later dismissed. Ferguson previously dismissed the charges against Barton, citing "prosecutorial misconduct" by Don Weber, former Madison County state's attorney. The Fifth District Appellate Court, however, overturned Ferguson's ruling and reinstated the case.

Barton and five other defendants face charges brought in a 1984 indictment, which alleged the participation in a scheme involving the lowering of property assessments in return for donations to a legal defense fund for Barton.

That case is pending before Romani who, on March 17, proceeded with a hearing on pre-trial motions although Locher was absent. Locher had filed a motion to continue the hearing, citing court appearances in Springfield.

In his motion for a different judge, Locher contends Romani has "demonstrated two separate standards, one for the defendants and a separate one for the prosecution."

At earlier stages in the prosecution, Romani had granted general continuances to defendants on short notice and, in some instances, when continuances had not been requested and when defense lawyers were not present in court, Locher said in his motion.

Locher alleged Romani's actions indicate he is "biased and prejudiced" against the prosecution.

The prosecutor requested the administrative office of the Supreme Court assign a different judge from outside the Third Judicial Circuit.

All except one of the defendants in the 1984 case have been seeking Locher's removal as special prosecutor in a civil lawsuit that raises the conflict of interest issue. The next hearing in that case is set for 2 p.m. April 4 before Associate Judge Wendell Durr.

Private or public meetings?

David Partney accuses fellow school board members of holding closed meetings in violation of the Illinois Open Meetings Act. He's been making the complaint for months.

The board, he said, has discussed finances and the location of positions in closed meetings. The board makes in names during these closed discussions, he said.

It seems budget matters and creating positions should be discussed in front of the public. If specific names need to be discussed for raises and filling positions, then the names alone should be discussed privately.

Based on Partney's complaints, the Press-Record called the Illinois Press Association. They consulted, in turn, with the Illinois Attorney General's office. We learned that if what Partney contends is true, the board is discussing some public business in private.

Obviously, the board has reason to believe its meetings should be closed. But it seems the board would be acting in its own best interest and in the greater interest of the public if it sought and heeded the opinion of the Illinois Attorney General's office on the issue.

It seems that office should be most qualified to comment on the Illinois Open Meetings Act since the Attorney General is the state's chief legal officer and his department is empowered to interpret statutes.

If that office thinks meetings should be opened, then the board should open the meetings. If the board ignores the opinion of that office, then it seems it is doing so because it prefers closed meetings to public meetings on controversial issues.

If the board is holding inappropriate executive sessions, members can be fined and jailed under criminal prosecution provisions of the Illinois Open Meetings Act. Partney vowed to pursue the matter in court.

We believe the board's goal is to serve the public and to do so in an open manner.

We believe that if members are meeting in violation of the law they are not knowingly doing so.

We also believe that if Partney's contentions are valid and the board ignores him, then when it comes to achieving the goal of public service, the school board is failing.

What's the price of freedom?

A hellish wind rolls across the Gulf of Sidra, roaring in opposition to the so-called "Line of Death" drawn by the Libyan leader, Col. Muammar Qaddafi.

The U.S. Navy is exercising its right to operate in international waters, an area the Libyan strongman claims as territorial waters.

The official line is the Navy's Mediterranean exercises are not meant to provoke Qaddafi. But the maneuvers come on the heels of the Dec. 27 terrorist attacks in Vienna and Rome attributed to the Libyans.

Predictably, Qaddafi is reacting to our Navy's presence.

Tragically, he's showing his ability for face-to-face confrontation is less effective than shooting helpless people and directing car bombers. In an ultimate act of military incompetence, he's allowed patrol boats to be sent out against, among other craft, three U.S. carriers and an estimated 340 war planes. The Libyan boats were sunk.

Military action to date has meant losses in men and materials only for the Libyans, but they are estimated to have some 500 war planes in their arsenal and should not be taken lightly despite the ineptitude they've displayed.

There are some who claim the United States is gaining nothing from this apparent, if not official, challenge to Qaddafi. Militarily, they are right. But this dangerous confrontation between the U.S. battle corps and Qaddafi is one that had to come.

The shot-in-the-dark diplomacy of Qaddafi had to be answered. Ignoring the problem of terrorism, or talking boldly against it, has done nothing to stop it or even abate it. The right to live freely, without fear, is challenged throughout the world so long as Qaddafi and those like him are allowed to commit heinous crimes without fear of retribution.

Our actions in the Mediterranean are dangerous, with a potential for a huge loss of life on both sides. Such actions are the epitome of the lamentable, tragic, desired by no one and feared by all.

But when talk of peace is met with gunfire, fear must be put aside and the gauntlet lifted.

If freedom is worth having, it's worth defending.

Condemning those houses

Condemning derelict houses within a community keeps the community from being condemned from within.

Nothing good comes of having outsiders drive past some of this community's unsightly housing. It detracts, not attracts.

A more pressing reason than community image for removing derelict housing is the danger it poses. Such houses are an invitation to youngsters — places to be explored, fears to be conquered, independence to be exercised.

The twin concerns of danger and community image provide strong motivation for city officials to tear down condemned housing.

And city officials are motivated.

Several weeks ago, the assistant city attorney, Charles Douglas, was questioned by aldermen about what is being done to condemn and remove abandoned housing. Danger to children and the problem of image were voiced as reasons to remove such houses.

Aldermen made it clear they want the problem solved.

Douglas doesn't have an easy job. Some condemnation cases have been on the books for years, he said. But these 20 to 25 cases, some "inherited" from the previous administration, are being pursued. He has asked the court to expedite the cases.

The city's leaders are not lax about their collective responsibility for community safety. When it comes to housing, city policy is fix it up or it'll be torn down. Douglas is following their direction.

When these cases reach the docket, the legal maneuvering and procedures should be made secondary to the desires of an impatient public to condemn unsuitable housing and thereby avoid the predictable results of snail's pace action.

Adlai, they've hurt you badly

Perhaps it is too early to write off Adlai Stevenson as the next governor of Illinois.

But the two he calls "zombies" and "Candidates who view Hitler's Germany as a model society" are November nails in the Democratic Party's coffin.

When the two supporters of ultra-conservative Lyndon LaRouche won the party's nomination to the state offices of lieutenant governor and secretary of state, they advanced the bizarre aims of LaRouche while crippling Stevenson at the outset of his victory march. Among the twisted aims of the "LaRouchites" is to test all Illinoisans for AIDS mixed with more reasonable-sounding goals such as fighting illegal drug traffic.

Janice Hart as secretary of state and Mark Fairchild as lieutenant governor are a humiliation to the state's Democrats and will keep party members from voting the traditional straight ticket, as stated in the March 24 Christian Science Monitor.

"If nothing else, the bizarre events of the past weeks have shown the weak leadership and myopia of the Illinois Democratic Party," the Monitor concluded.

The situation: Stevenson wants to form a third party, U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Illinois, thinks another party wouldn't be a good idea; Republicans are snickering; Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said it's time for Democrats to unite; and those strange bedfellows in the party's bedroom, Hart and Fairchild, are having a media field day.

In terms of what it all means to the Democratic Party's gubernatorial candidate in Illinois this November: Adlai, they've hurt you badly.

Should we bomb Libya?

Do you agree with the current stand the U.S. is taking against Libya and its leader, Col. Muammar Qaddafi, even though it could lead to a full-scale war with that nation?

Readers react

J.D. Smith, Granite City

"I agree with it. I think it's worth it, because it will save more people's lives, over the long run, by stopping the terrorism."

Pauline Mitchell, Granite City

"I sure wouldn't want it to lead to a war. The longer we stay out of war, the better off we are. I don't like to hear about them shooting at each other."

Frank Arriaga, Granite City

"If he (Qaddafi) commits an aggression against the U.S., we have to retaliate. You don't know where it's going to lead to, if you don't."

Mourns death of party after election

To the editor:

I am in mourning and I wanted to share my sorrow with your readers. We had a death in the state of Illinois Tuesday, March 18 that will have a profound effect on all our lives, no matter what our political preference. It's been a long time in coming.

We, as a people, usually have such compassion. When we see a wounded animal, we almost always try to help but this time, for whatever reason, we allowed a part of our very history to leave without a whimper.

The death of the Democratic Party in the State of Illinois came and went without so much as a wake. The Democrats have gone begging for ways to give the people reason to believe their existence was necessary. They have failed miserably. When I saw on national television coverage of our election, people being interviewed in Illinois, admitting to having voted for a candidate because they liked their name, I wanted to be sick. I thought voter apathy was the worst crime a concerned citizen could commit. I stand corrected. Voting for a name no matter what the reason is wrong.

I know there will be people who will say this letter is sour grapes. I freely admit it. I am bitterly disappointed that I worked so long and hard for people I felt truly qualified and morally able to fulfill the positions they were seeking only to have them lose because they had the wrong name.

I am an independent, my husband is a Democrat and my son is a Republican so I have other choices, but I must tell you I have committed many sins in my life and I am certainly capable of being wrong and have been many times but never have I voted for even one single person that I didn't research carefully and at least attempt to make an intelligent choice.

Many people may not be aware of the fact that leaving some offices blank on your ballot does not invalidate your whole ballot. You are free to vote for only those offices you feel obliged to choose. Your vote will still count.

Adlai Stevenson is up in Chicago crying because of the situation he finds himself in today. I lay this mess at his doorstep. He elected to not even contend with the primary and most Upstate politicians treat Madison County like stepchildren. They got what they deserve and if Illinois doesn't go fully Republican in November, I'll be the most surprised person in town. I'll be looking forward to seeing how they plan to salvage this mess. It should be interesting but if anything, at least politics isn't dull.

Summit conference on road to peace

To the editor:

Today, more than 40 years after the end of World War I, there are many memories of how the world had to adjust. Each crisis was viewed in isolation, with little or no thought as to what it revealed about the designs of the Nazi and Fascist dictators.

Chamberlain called no one an "evil empire." On the contrary, he declared in 1937 that "there is not a country or a government that wants a European war." A year later and just one year before war actually began, he still spoke of "the desire of the German people for peace." No doubt the German people did want peace, as the Soviet people want peace today.

Chamberlain failed to see that this was totally irrelevant to the plans of the dictators. In a world still haunted by the carnage of World War I, much as we are haunted by Vietnam today, Chamberlain's approach was the popular one. Few other British politicians seriously challenged him. One who did was Winston Churchill.

As early as 1932, Churchill warned of the "inexhaustible gullibility" of Western pacifists. Far from believing that the causes of war could be removed by concessions, he pointed out that "every concession that has been made" was only "followed immediately by fresh demands." He recognized the Spanish Civil War, about Germany's brutal takeover of Austria, and about Italy's savage subjugation of Ethiopia. All were accepted as "facts of life" to which Britain had to adjust. Each crisis was viewed in isolation, with little or no thought as to what it revealed about the designs of the Nazi and Fascist dictators.

Chamberlain called no one an "evil empire." On the contrary, he declared in 1937 that "there is not a country or a government that wants a European war." A year later and just one year before war actually began, he still spoke of "the desire of the German people for peace." No doubt the German people did want peace, as the Soviet people want peace today.

In a world still haunted by the carnage of World War I, much as we are haunted by Vietnam today, Chamberlain's approach was the popular one. Few other British politicians seriously challenged him. One who did was Winston Churchill.

As early as 1932, Churchill warned of the "inexhaustible gullibility" of Western pacifists. Far from believing that the causes of war could be removed by concessions, he pointed out that "every concession that has been made" was only "followed immediately by fresh demands." He recognized the political pressures within Britain for disarmament but saw that as the road to war. "Britain's hour of weakness is Europe's hour of danger," he warned.

To those who proclaimed the horrors of modern warfare, Churchill replied that a country "cannot avoid war by dilating upon its horrors," but only by "deterrence against the aggressor." Churchill's warnings were ignored for seven long years. He was ridiculed and denounced in the press. A committee of his constituents barely missed voting censure of him in 1938.

Only after Nazi bombs were falling on Britain did they turn to him to lead the country through the grim and desperate years ahead. No one expected Britain to survive — and it had a narrow escape. So did the Western world.

The great, majestic words of Winston Churchill in those tragic times have been preserved in many places. We also need to look back at the words of Neville Chamberlain for they reveal the kind of thinking that leads to catastrophe. Chamberlain's book, "In Search of Peace," should be required reading. It has all the clichés of today's so-called "peace" movement — and it turned out to be a road map to war!

Enlarging industrial park discussed by Madison council

By Donna Kimbro

Staff writer
MADISON — Plans to enlarge areas in the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park of Madison were reviewed by Mayor John Bellico at the council meeting Tuesday night.

The Wayne Lanter Co. needs land to expand and the mayor said there is a possibility of obtaining land vacated by the Interstate United Parcel Co.

Lanter plans to construct a warehouse in the area and seek rail access for distribution and incoming deliveries, Bellico told the aldermen.

A rail line could be available but would cross property of Reilly Tar and Chemical Corp. and Illinois Power.

"If we can reach agreements with both companies this would provide Lanter a transportation solution and he will remain at his present location," the mayor said. Another ongoing problem is the water line extension to the Gateway Truck Plaza.

"We are a step away from solving this," he said. A meeting is scheduled for today with all concerned parties and he will report the proceedings at the next council meeting, he said.

To improve the business climate in Madison the Madison Businessmen's Association purchased bright green banners that will be attached to utility poles along Madison avenue to promote the business district.

One of the banners was displayed during the meeting and the mayor said the city street department employees will begin the project within two weeks under the direction of Robert Vaughn, vice president of the association.

Aldermen approved recommendations from the Zoning Board of Appeals to allow Mike Macek of 1600 Fourth St. to remodel property at 1701 Edwardsville Road into a multiple dwelling, office and warehouse, and to Jeannie Da Cunha to convert the former Jeanne's French Quarter Lounge at 925 Grand Ave., into an apartment complex.

Bills in the amount of $45,524 were approved.

District 9 teachers request negotiations

By BILL MILLIGAN

Staff writer
GRANITE CITY — Members of local 743 of the American Federation of Teachers want to renegotiate the union's working agreement with District 9 it was revealed Tuesday night.

A letter dated March 6 and signed by union president Russ Chappell, informed board members of the local's intent, it was revealed at the March 25 board meeting.

A two-year contract between local 743 and District 9 expires at the end of this school year.

A wage re-opener completed last December received unanimous support from rank-and-file union membership and the school board. Present contract negotiations will include all facets of school operations.

According to a Local 743 newsletter, Local Logic, the deadline for teacher input into contract negotiations is April 4. Six new teachers are expected to be added to the District 9 payroll next year. The school board hopes the measure will enable it to reduce average class sizes.

Local 743 contract negotiators include Chappell, Harold Gephart, Ruth Baker, Gary Morgan, Bob Page, Don Riden, Larry Talbert and alternates Lou Boyer, Gene Gunderson, Allen Lobdell and Joan Schaffner.

Negotiating for District 9 are Terry Salem, Dewey Melton and Monroe Worthen.

Articles of the present working agreement call for a meeting April 30 to set the guidelines for upcoming contract talks.

Terms of the agreement reached last December included an unwritten agreement that school would begin on time (August 25) next fall.

First Nameoki mayor was grocer

The history of the Steele and Kunnemann families, both including local mayors, was traced in a talk here to 1755 and 1832. In the latter year, William Kunnemann came to the U.S. from Hanover, Germany.

A year later he was able to send for his fiancée, Minnie Wessel, and they were married, settling on a farm on Chouteau Island. They became the parents of seven sons and two daughters.

One of the sons, Christ Kunnemann, was elected as the first mayor of the Village of Nameoki, the Old Six Mile Historical Society was told at its March meeting by Christ's grandson, Everett G. Steele, a former local state representative.

The original family home on Chouteau was built on stilts to avoid spring floods. Large logs were rolled into the kitchen to permit cooking and baking atop a huge fireplace. Despite the fireplace, they would sometimes awaken with their breath frozen to the bed covers.

The oldest child of the William Kunnemanns, August, was confined to a wheelchair and helped his mother with kitchen chores.

Henry, the second child, attended the St. John's confirmation school here. When he died he was buried beneath a tree in St. John Cemetery, 2801 Nameoki Road, where he had set a rabbit trap while attending school.

The other children were William, Albert, John, Christian, Louis, Dena and Minnie. Steele's mother, Ivy Kunnemann Steele, 94, was present to hear the talk, as was her cousin, Elmer Kunnemann, 90.

The boys of the family hunted and trapped animals, including rabbits, raccoons, opossums, squirrels, wild ducks and geese, the Old Six Mile gathering was told.

The girls baked bread each day, using flour purchased by the barrel. They also helped prepare cornbread, stews, opossum and sweet potatoes, and popped corn the family had raised.

They made candies from from molasses and sorghum, utilizing nuts the children gathered.

They often skated on the frozen Mississippi River, and fished in Chouteau Slough.

It was the golden age of steam-boating, and the Kunnemann boys were hired by the government to care for a light. The light guided riverboat pilots through the dangerous "chain of rocks."

They also managed a boat landing, receiving freight and sending out cargo.

Christ Kunnemann left the farm and started a grocery store and restaurant at Pontoon and Nameoki roads. He married Ida Kahle and they lived above the grocery until building a home where Granite City Bowl now stands in the 3700 block of Nameoki Road.

Aside from serving as mayor, he was Madison County recorder of deeds for 12 years, and was the negotiator when land was purchased for Granite City High School. People complained the school was built "too far out in the country," although it is in the heart of Granite City today. Granite City and Nameoki merged in mid-century.

Kunnemann also was instrumental in obtaining the right-of-way for the Chain of Rocks Bridge, but the property owner on the west side changed his mind and refused to sell land needed for the Missouri approach. A site was bought farther north, forcing a sharp and hazardous curve near the center of the bridge. It was operated as a toll bridge by the City of Madison for many years.

Their daughters were Myrtle and Ivy. The family attended St. John Church, where Myrtle played an organ that had to be pumped by hand.

The Steele family, of Scotch-Irish descent, came to America in 1755, before the Revolutionary War. John Steele served with Virginia troops during the war and, in 1807, the family left South Carolina and moved through Tennessee and Kentucky to settle in Randolph County, Ill.

He was the first permanent settler in Steeleville and his son, George, built a grist mill, plus a fort for protection against the Kickapoo Indians.

George and his four brothers fought on the northern side in the Civil War. John Steele, father of Everett, was born in Sparta in 1832.

John's brother, Joe, came to Granite City about 1900 and worked as a paymaster at Granite City Steel. He attended law school in St. Louis, became a lawyer, and in 1913 was elected mayor of Granite City.

John Steele moved to Granite City and for awhile worked on the Illinois Terminal Railroad. He married Ivy Kunnemann and they operated a real estate and insurance business for 50 years.

When times were slow, they baked bread at 4 a.m. and attracted many customers, who would wait outside until the bread was taken from the oven.

John Steele lived to the age of 90. The Old Six Mile meeting drew capacity attendance. Marguerite Barker was the program chairman and hostesses were Margaret Lexow and Elizabeth and Mary Gargac.

President Georgia Engelke presided. She said renovation work is progressing on a second-floor room at the museum, and work on the porches is planned.

Shirley Adams announced tickets are being sold for a dinner and antique fashion show to be held April 26 at the K of C Hall.

Lawyer can't be sued

A Kentucky lawyer cannot be sued for legal malpractice in Madison County, the Illinois Supreme Court ruled March 19.

Jack A. Yates, an Illinois resident, retained Kentucky attorney Donald S. Muir to represent him in a federal disability retirement claim.

Yates alleged Muir failed to file an appeal within the required time after the claim was denied and sued Muir in Madison County.

The plaintiff contended Muir could be sued under the Illinois "long arm" statute because he had represented an Illinois resident.

The trial court and Fifth Appeals Court rejected Muir's motions for dismissal on the grounds Illinois courts lacked jurisdiction. The Supreme Court reversed the lower court decisions and ordered the case dismissed in Madison County.

"The legal services performed for the defendant were performed exclusively in Kentucky; if there was any malpractice in rendering those services it took place in Kentucky," the high court said.

It noted the conclusion was also consistent with "decisions under the due process clause that residents of one state who travel to another jurisdiction for medical treatment cannot prosecute a malpractice action in their state of residence for injuries arising out of that treatment."

Arson suspected in 2 fires

GRANITE CITY — Two fires, which police believe were arson, occurred Tuesday at two Granite City homes.

The first happened at 3:03 p.m. in an abandoned home at 2111 E. 23rd St. According to the Granite City Fire Department, there were at least four points of origin inside the house. The fire did $3,000 in damage to the building.

NEIGHBORS in the area said the building was a clubhouse for children and that children had been seen coming in and out of the house on a regular basis.

One of the area residents said a white man, 40-years-old, husky built and wearing beige pants and a white shirt at the house approximately two hours before the fire was reported to authorities. A second possible arson was reported at 10:52 p.m. March 25 at the home of Robert Orender of 3630 State St.

Witnesses said a white male threw a gas can on Orender's porch, starting the fire. The subject fled the scene on a motorcycle driven by another white male.

The fire was contained to the front lawn of the residence. Orender was not at home at the time of the fire.

Police recovered a charred gas can which is believed to be what was used to start the fire.

Both fires are under investigation.

Easter egg hunt at Venice park Saturday

By Valerie Evenden

Hundreds of brightly colored eggs will be waiting for Venice youngsters to find at a community Easter egg hunt at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The event will be staged for Venice children, who are 12 years old or younger, near the softball diamond in Lee Park, Venice.

CO-SPONSORING the hunt are the Venice Park District and the Venice Lions Club. If rain or cold weather occurs Saturday, the activity will start at the same time, but inside the Venice Recreation Center on Broadway.

He reminded parents that youthful egg hunters must bring their own containers in which to collect the eggs, said Arnold Johnson, Venice Park District manager.

Contestants will be divided into various age groups, starting with toddlers, preschoolers and kindergarten pupils.

TROPHIES WILL be presented to those children who find the most eggs in their specific age group.

About 20 dozen eggs are being donated to the project by Bob Boothman, owner of Bob's Right Fox Food Store, 421 Broadway.

"Bob has supported many projects through his donations ever since he went into business here," the Rev. John Henry Williams, park board president, said Wednesday.

"HE IS ONE businessman in the community who supports our community, and he deserves credit for it," the park officer said.

Anna Claggett, a Venice Park Board member and district recreation chairman, and Earl Hogan of the Venice Lions are coordinating the Easter egg hunt.

Mayor for a day

THE DEMOLAYS looked at a faded petition for membership dated June 3, 1940 from a 13-year-old boy named Harold Von Dee Cruse who wanted to be a DeMolay.

Today, he's the mayor.

"I was glad to show them my application to join DeMolay," Cruse said, "and to share the things I remembered all these years and I'll never forget."

However, the sharing was over and it was time to carry out the city's business. Cruse led mayor-for-the-day C. Edward Bodnam to his chair to begin the day's work.

THE FIRST duty of the day was to look over a salary comparison report of firemen.

"This is a very impressive set up," Bodnam said looking at his office for the day.

Though his career as a city leader was short-lived, Bodnam's experience as mayor will give him a chance to reflect on his own experience as master counselor of the chapter.

"I think any experience like this will help my leadership responsibility," he said.

The members were given a tour of City Hall and saw the offices where they would be serving for the day.

"This is exciting," said Greg Sipes, who served as assessor. "It's something different other than school."

"I THINK this will teach me more respect for people and life in general," said Charles Varber Jr., who served as police chief.

It was a particularly proud day for the chapter advisor Charles Meyer, who snapped pictures of the DeMolays as they took office.

"There were some first-time government operators," Meyer said, "and gives them the confidence that they might want to enter public office."

WHEN THE DAY was over, the reigns were turned back to the elected officials who were impressed with their replacements and the insights they were able to give of the role of city government.

"Principally they learn something about city operations by following around the office," said City Clerk Bob Stevens.

"I think it's a wonderful opportunity for the youth to get some idea where we work and some of the things we do," Cruse said. "It's something they'll remember as long as they live."

contact the village regarding further discussion of the matter.

The board considered a zoning variance recommended by the Zoning Board concerning a request by Lamar Moore, of the 4300 block of Illinois 162, to place a mobile home on the property. The mobile home would house security personnel for his business. The need for which was noted by the Zoning Board.

After hearing the objections of several residents, the board tabled the variance request and advised those residents having objections to submit them to the board in writing.

In other zoning matters, the board approved the appointment of Joy Rowland as a member of the Zoning Board.

The board voted to annex property zoned general business, in the 3900 block of Illinois 112. Richard Depley operates an auto body shop on the property.

On behalf of several residents, Wilson directed a letter to Paul Hawkins, director of sanitation, Madison County, requesting the elimination of the "hazardous and unsightly condition" of a residence in the 4100 block of Breckenridge Lane. The residence lies just inside the village limits and village officials have received numerous complaints concerning its condition.

Copies of Wilson's letter are also being sent to Dick Allen, states attorney, and Lester Kraft, health inspector of Nameoki Township.

The board also accepted a bid of $11,616 from Big 4 Chevrolet for the purchase of a specially equipped 1986 Chevrolet Caprice police car.

Imagine a sustainable future for our planet

HOW PEACE CAME TO THE WORLD

Edited by Earl W. Foell and Richard A. Nenneman
Foreword by Kurt Waldheim

It can happen. In the year 2010 the world is at peace and the threat of nuclear devastation has vanished. How has this come about? Through the imaginative ideas of forty men and women—lawyers, doctors, professors, conflict research specialists, and others who think about peace in a different way, who do not accept that war is inevitable. The wealth of original and workable approaches to peace presented in this book has been selected from entries to "Peace 2010," a contest sponsored by The Christian Science Monitor.

This book is available for sale in your local Christian Science Reading Room.

"The essays collected in this volume are sound ideas of what all nations of the world must do to make our planet safer for ourselves and for future generations." —Ronald Reagan

"The book is a superb reminder that people everywhere owe a duty to the children to safeguard the future." —International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War, recipients of the 1985 Nobel Peace Prize

Roy Lee remembered

Baseball is a game of "Remember when I hit that double to clear the bases against Old Siwash" U. in the bottom of the ninth to win the conference championship back there in 1946?" Or, "Remember that game where old Ron threw that no-hitter down in Jackson, Tenn., to beat Nicholls State U. and advance us to the national tournament?"

And on and on into the late hours of the night until the early hours of the morning.

Well, if you are a former member of the baseball teams coached by the late Roy E. Lee at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville from 1968 through 1978, you will get the opportunity to reminisce on Saturday, April 26.

That's the date set by Dr. Lynn Lashbrook, the imaginative, hard-working athletic director at SIUE, to honor the brilliant career (1927-1941) that Coach Lee had in this 11 years at SIUE.

On that date, pending approval of the school's board of trustees at its April 10 meeting, the diamond at SIUE will be officially named

"Roy E. Lee Field."

Furnishing the opposition will be an old foe of Lee's, Western Illinois. The Leathernecks were the SIUE's first opponent in 1911. It was a bitter rivalry with SIUE holding a 27-19-1 edge over the years.

Plans are not yet complete, but Dr. Lashbrook and his committee are asking the many young men who played for Lee to make an effort to be there for the ceremonies.

Ceremonies will be held between games of a doubleheader on Saturday. That night, a reception for Lee's former players and area baseball fans will be held at a hotel to be announced later.

The stories about the colorful Lee will be kicked around again. The grow more fantastic by the retelling. Also expected to be around are members of the teams he coached at St. Louis University for six years prior to introducing baseball to SIUE.

Three of his teams at SLU won Missouri Valley Conference championships and one finished second at the College World Series in Omaha, Neb. He took three Cougar teams to the NCAA Division II championships and finished second once.

Fifteen of Lee's former players, including the Cougars' present coach, Bo Collins, made it to the pros. Collins, Bruce Thompson and Ron Rohlfing were with the Cardinals; John (Champ) Summers signed with Oakland and played also with the Cubs, Reds, Tigers, Giants and Padres; Jim Greenwald, John (Red) Urban and Lance McCord played for the Twins; Pat Peterson and Dennis Werth were with the Yankees; Tom Twelmann was with the Astros; Mike Brown was with the Giants; Stan Osterbur and Bob Wilber were with the Tigers; Nick Balz was with the Expos; and Bill Lee, the coach's son, was in the Braves' system.

For more information on the weekend, call Steve Weiler, SIUE sports information director, 692-3600.

Illinois dollars support program

Illinois waterfowl stamp dollars are playing a crucial role in developing the maximum potential of the Wellington Project, a 648-acre marsh located in the prime waterfowl breeding ground of southern Saskatchewan.

Dale Whitesell, executive vice president of Ducks Unlimited Inc., recently wrote Department of Conservation Director Michael Witte noting the importance of two recent grants of $60,750 and $89,430 which will be employed by DU in a long-term program at the Wellington site.

To date, the Wellington project has cost $462,500, with Illinois waterfowl stamp money providing $243,700. Whitesell described the project as one which will "certainly enhance the waterfowl resource in your state and flyway," and "ensure the future of this precious national treasure."

The project seeks to improve the Wellington site's waterfowl production by raising water levels through the employment of dikes and water control structures. In addition, upland nesting habitat will be improved by building earthen nesting islands in the marsh.

Major duck species found at Wellington are canvasback and mallards. Other common waterfowl include blue-winged teal, redhead, wigeon and ruddy ducks. Canada geese nest on the site, but numbers fluctuate year to year. At times, more than 20,000 Canada geese have used the marsh as a staging area.

Work on the Wellington Project began in the fall of 1983. The site is located in a federally managed community pasture managed for livestock grazing and hay. The marsh provides a home for many wildlife species besides waterfowl, including white-tailed deer, upland game birds, coyote, badger, fox and a few mule deer.

Sports briefs

To college

JIM CHOMKO of the Granite City High School soccer team has verbally committed to the University of Wisconsin-Parkside for this fall. Parkside is an NCAA Division II school with an enrollment of approximately 17,000. Chomko was a forward on last year's Warrior team.

SLU slates soccer camps

Billiken coach Joey Clark, Tom Howe and St. Louis Steamers assistant coach Tony Glavin will co-direct two overnight soccer camps at St. Louis University. A camp for select boys age 12-18 will be held from June 8-13. On July 13-18 a camp for boys age 18 and under is planned. For more information, call (314) 555-3184 or write 3672 West Pine, St. Louis, Mo. 63108.

MAC signups begin April 1

Registration for boys baseball and girls softball in the Mitchell Athletic Club will begin April 1. Registration will be held on Tuesdays, April 1, 8 and 15 at the Mitchell School gymnasium from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The registration fee is $18.

The MAC is also planning to start similar programs in Madison, and registration will be held on Wednesdays, April 2, 9 and 16 at the Madison Recreation Center, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The registration fee is the same. Jim Broadway will be coordinating the program in Madison.

SIU to host 10,000 M run

The annual "Cougar Run For Pride" will be held April 12 at 10 a.m. at SIUE-Edwardsville. The 10,000-meter race is sponsored by the Campus Recreation, Tower Lake Housing and the Campus Ministries.

Runners will be divided into six age groups, both men and women. Participants will run across the campus starting and finishing at the Vadalabene Center.

Tigerettes come away third

CHAMPAIGN — Unwilling to end their season on a losing note, the Lincoln Tigerettes hammered Richards High of Oak Lawn 68-37 Saturday night.

The game was played here at the Illinois Girls Class AA basketball tournament, but unfortunately it was the third place game, not the title game.

The Tigerettes' hopes for a second state title were shot down Saturday morning by Peoria Manual 51-46.

Lincoln, which ended the season at 29-2 (the other loss coming to Class A champion Teutopolis), shot 65 percent in the consolation and committed only six turnovers in what might have been their best game of the year.

Senior Armelder Johnson and junior Valerie Whitford each had 18 points to pace Lincoln over Richards.

"If we'd have played like this during the whole tournament there's no telling where we'd be," said Coach Charles McDonald. "I knew the girls could play a lot better than they had been."

The Tigerettes grabbed a 20-11 lead after one quarter and had a 38-21 edge by halftime. They then made eight straight field goals to start the third quarter in exploding to a 54-27 lead.

Lincoln's spectacular showing in the third place game was a dramatic turnaround from the semifinal game earlier in the day. They held a 38-33 advantage early in the fourth quarter over Manual, the eventual champion, and Carla McGhee, one of Manual's key players had fouled out.

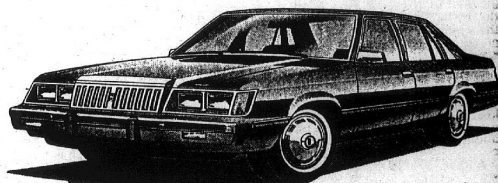

But Peoria scored the next 12 points to take a 45-38 lead and held on. Peoria beat Chicago Marshall 57-46 in the title game. Lincoln had beaten Marshall 47-37 earlier this year and gave Manual a tougher game than Marshall, so the Tigerettes could claim the No. 2 spot in the state.

In Friday's quarterfinal game, the Tigerettes overcame a slow start to defeat Maine West of Des Plaines 57-41. Lincoln made just four of its first 21 shots, but never trailed by more than four points.

But they rallied to take a 31-29 lead early in the third quarter, then ran off 14 consecutive points, holding the Warriors without a field goal for 9:28. Linda Wilson had 14 points, while Whitford and Daphne Johnson each had 12.

Soccer

JoAnn Macios and Michelle Willis. Velloff repeated that many other coaches have said about the weather, but said he had had the girls out since March 1 and had been able to get in quite a bit of practice time.

"I hope we will do well," he said. "We're not in shape yet like I want to be, but I really don't think any of the teams are in perfect shape yet."

Junior Diane Takmajian returns to the goalie position, a spot where she started as a sophomore in 1985.

"She's an aggressive goalkeeper," Velloff said. "Diane is smart but there. She knows when to come out and she's pretty quick. Her height (5-8) is also an advantage on many occasions."

Velloff is mildly concerned about the defense, which lost several key players from last year.

"Zentgras is one player I might have on defense this season," Velloff said. And Foreman is another one I could bring back."

Velloff listed other players such as Susan Conkovich and Marla Tonieskoetter as potential contributors to the 1986 team, one of only three girls soccer teams on the east side of the river.

Outside of Collinsville and Metro-East, Lutheran, the Warriors will play St. Louis teams for the balance of the schedule.

On offense, the Warriors lost their leading scorer from last season, Robin York (15 goals). But Velloff is looking for players like Ryan, a striker, and Dawson, who had 11 goals in 1985, to pick up the slack.

"Angie Moore is another one we're hoping gets some goals," Velloff said. "She has the chance to be an excellent player on the wing."

Velloff said several of the St. Louis schools promise to be tough this season, particularly Mehlville, Hazelwood Central and Incarnate Word.

"Collinsville will be tough, also," he said. "They will always be tough because of the rivalry between the two schools."

As for Velloff himself, he just can't seem to get enough soccer. Coaching boys in the fall and girls in the spring, he has a unique insight to the differences.

But outside of the obvious differences in size and strength, Velloff sees one thing in the girls' favor.

"The boys tend to joke around a little more," he said. "I've found that the girls are a little more willing to get right with it. Of course, when they're standing around before a drill, they are more likely to start talking about other things, like what's going on that night, but when you talk to them, they will listen."

The girls also have a home game scheduled for Friday at 4 p.m. against McCluer.

Warriors

half of the inning when Hinterser drew a two-out walk and crossed the plate on Partney's first triple of the contest into the right center gap.

The cat-and-mouse scoring affair continued in the third when Wood River picked up two more runs on back-to-back Warrior errors which allowed Scott Pennewald and Bob Fritts to cross the plate for a 3-1 Oiler lead.

But Granite City tied it once again when left fielder Fred Becker led off the bottom of the third with a walk, and then swiped both second and third base. Becker crossed the plate when he beat Chris Morris's throw home on a Hinterser grounder.

For the second time in three innings, Hinterser was able to jog home when Partney belted another three-bagger into deep center, tying the score at 3-3.

The Warriors took their first lead of the game in the fifth when Becker led off the inning with a walk and stole second, setting the stage for Partney's RBI of the day, which came when he took a pitch from Wood River's Jeff Crump back up the middle.

The Warrior rally continued when third baseman Matt Roe followed Partney with a walk. After the two basemen were successful on a double steal attempt, designated hitter Billy Moore provided his squad with some extra breathing room when he singled into right, scoring both runners and giving the Warriors a 6-3 lead.

The final Granite City run came when Timmy Hogan led off the sixth with a walk and stole second. After pinch-hitter Richie Wilson advanced Hogan to third with a sacrifice bunt, the Warrior center fielder was able to score when reliever Matt King's toss eluded catcher Pearson and rolled to the backstop.

Wood River attempted an 11th-hour rally when Inman knocked home Pennewald and Fritts with a towering shot over the head of Hogan in the seventh. However, Ernie Gray got King on a ground out to end the game.

Although relatively pleased with his squad's overall improvement, Stegemeier was especially impressed by the way the Warriors "attacked the ball" Wednesday.

"This kid (Crump) was not a bad pitcher and I was especially pleased with the way we attacked the ball," the coach said. "The kids went up there swinging the bats and they were able to make good contact."

"We still need some defensive work, but that will come with practice. All of our errors today were throwing errors and those are just because we're not getting good footwork on our throws. But we'll get better with practice."

The Warriors picked up their first win of the season Monday afternoon as they downed Roxana, 15-4.

Sportscaster puts 'Zip' into TV scene

By Jim Baer
Staff writer

So you'd like to have your son or daughter become a television sportscaster?

Fun ... glamour ... travel. There's high pay and spirited adventure. Of course the job includes ample vacation time and just a little work. Sports guys are public figures and everyone recognizes their faces on the street. Their pictures are on outdoor billboards or in newspaper advertisements assuring instant celebrity status.

Christopher 'Zip' Rzeppa, KTVI's sports director, just doesn't fit the mold.

He's hard working and ambitious. And he's not relying on any looks. "With a face like mine, you have to have something else going for you," he says.

Rzeppa is one of a new breed of sportscasters: eager, hard-working overachievers who see only the sky as the limit. The pay's good, but the work's very hard.

Nobody does it better than Rzeppa, who's been with the ABC affiliate since 1984. (See related story.)

Zip enjoys the trappings of his trade. His job takes him to all the major sports arenas and he interviews all the big wigs of the industry. The work load is anything but routine.

Rzeppa is living proof that the stereotype of an all-glamour, little-work sportscaster is outmoded. He's part of a new breed of television sportscasters who are battling for the top spots in the industry. Those who blink are out.

Rzeppa is captain of his ship. He directs the six-man sports department at KTVI.

You'd think about all the sports guy has to do is check into the station, spread around a few how-do-you-dos, grab a cup of coffee, rip off some wire service copy and script a quick-hitting 2½ minute report for the five o'clock news and another four minutes at 6 p.m. Then comes a leisurely dinner break and just four minutes more on the 10 o'clock wrap-up. Then the day ends.

Not so. Rzeppa makes all the departmental decisions, while writing all the air copy. He oversees the editing of all air tapes. His efforts

Typical Rzeppa day

Working for a television station is something like being married to the organization. The work day is long and the employee is on call most any hour of the night or day. When a big story breaks, the reporter springs into action.

Zip Rzeppa's day normally begins at 2:30 p.m., running well past midnight on many occasions. Take a typical day.

The day officially starts with a 1:15 p.m. grade school presentation for a presidential physical fitness award.

By 3 p.m. Rzeppa returns to the station to review the events to be aired on the 5, 6 and 10 p.m. news segments.

There are office meetings with staff and huddles with his co-workers, reporter Bill Davis and sports producer Mark Halfmann.

Then he meets with his news director, Jan McBryde. By the middle of the afternoon, Rzeppa and staff are compiling tape bites and putting together a pre-game feature on Minnesota North Stars' strong man Willi Plett.

On the basketball front, Rzeppa wants a review of the controversial finish of the Vashon-University City basketball playoff game, as well as highlights from Duke and Kansas' opening round wins in the NCAA basketball tournament.

Nothing seems to go smoothly. The piece with Plett pulses badly out of control on the video replay machine. Davis and the camera man have to sprint back to the arena, and Rzeppa has no idea if a re-shoot will be ready by 8:22 p.m., his second air time.

Everything seems set up on the Vashon piece when U. City's athletic director calls to say the game has been placed under protest. Rzeppa junks the whole piece, starting anew.

By 5 p.m., the television scoreboard is loaded with NCAA scores. The staff has tracked down Meramec Community College's first round basketball game in the National Division II junior college tournament. The script is finalized, with copies going to producers and floor directors.

The red light blinks on at 5:23 p.m., and Rzeppa presents his whole package to a bi-state viewing audience. He's the calm in the eye of the storm.

Even before the dash to the news studio, Rzeppa and his assistants are putting the touches on the 6 p.m. report.

After 6:30 p.m., Rzeppa hustles over to the arena for a quick dinner, watches less than one period of the Blues-Minnesota game, then races back to the office.

By 8 p.m., the staff has regrouped to view live games on three office television monitors.

The staff is pulling big play highlights of Missouri basketball game with Alabama-Birmingham, the Steamers game with Dallas and the Blues game with Minnesota, all at the same time.

A hush falls over the office as the tape machines whirl and the typewriters are clacking.

By nearly 10 p.m., Rzeppa is rubbing his hands. "Ah, this is what it's all about. I'll have to edit nearly the whole show. There's no time to script it all out. These games are all about to end."

By 10:30, Larry Connors has signed the show off, and M.A.S.H. is on the air.

every sportscaster in the country. When St. Louis (KTVI) was looking for a replacement for John Kniesly, they came after me," Rzeppa says.

"How you present yourself will determine how far you will go in the business. How you look on an air tape will determine your whole future. Job recommendations and resumes don't mean a lot. In this business, consultants have a great deal of influence."

Rzeppa says KTVI, an ABC affiliate, relies less on these outsiders than the other two local stations.

"If people watching your tape like what they see, you have a chance of getting a job. If they don't, you have no chance at all."

Rzeppa, former quarterback at Brother Rice High in Detroit and a 1974 communications graduate from Boston University, says this is a young man's industry.

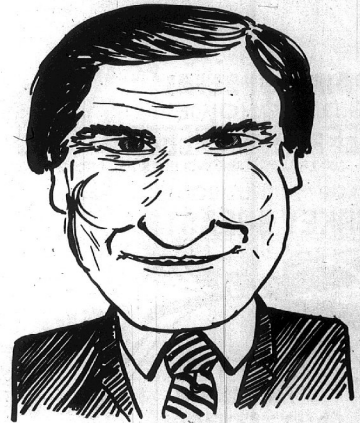

"I'm 34 and I'm what you'd consider middle-aged in the business."

Rzeppa comes from a family of achievers. One brother attends Harvard Law School while another runs his own computer consulting firm. Rzeppa is a tireless worker whose time card would expire from overuse.

"I've always been a hard worker. I'll do whatever it takes to get the job done. Television can be a dog-eat-dog business, but it's not so bad here," he says.

"I love the challenge of my work. There's always so many new events, so many new stories. Our job is to tell those stories in an orderly process. We try and inform the viewers. We want to show them a lot of balanced sports coverage."

And you thought a sportscaster's life was a piece of cake?

Cruse proclaims March 24-30 Art Week

GRANITE CITY - Mayor Von Dee Cruse has declared the week of March 24-30 "Youth Art Week."

An exhibit of art work completed this year by Granite City Senior High students will be on display in the lobby of City Hall from March 18-31. The proclamation urges all citizens to become interested in and give full support to quality school art programs for children and youth.

It also recognized the importance of art in education as being necessary for the full development of all children.

March is the month designated as Youth Art Month by Gov. James Thompson. The 85th Illinois General Assembly of Illinois and numerous individual legislators and civic leaders have endorsed Youth Art Month.

Youth Art Month has been observed in Illinois since 1974 as a statewide celebration under the sponsorship of the Illinois Art Education Association.

It was established nationally in 1961 by the Art and Craft Materials Institute Inc. to provide an annual celebration of children's art work. The observance also recognize the value of quality art education programs in Illinois schools and communities.

Volunteers

Friend to youth

Volunteers share two to three hours a week with a teenager. The friend provides recreational and educational activities along with guidance and support as a positive role model.

Volunteers receive training to enhance their communication skills, knowledge of families and understanding of the difficulties surrounding adolescence. Anyone interested in befriending a youth should call Jan Bump at Central Baptist Family Services, 345-9644.

Kitchen aides

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program seeks volunteers 60 of age or older to volunteer in Venice at the Venice Senior Citizens Nutrition Center as kitchen aides. The hours are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. any day of the week that's convenient to the volunteer.

This would require helping serve meals, setting the tables, and cleaning up afterwards during the hot lunch program for senior citizens.

Any senior interested may contact Myrna Kesterson, RSVP office at 876-3223.

'JUNK' FOOD

A study of over 2000 teenagers in 112 high schools found that a large proportion are undernourished, despite heavy eating, because of faulty diets. The children themselves referred to "junk" they ate, instead of drinking milk and fruit juice, and eating wholesome fresh vegetables, fruits, meats and whole cereals. Proper diet makes for better health, energy, and good appearance.

Hebrews 13:8 ... "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today, and forever."

God is the same. For eternity He is the same. He does not change. His Word does not change. His promises do not change. His power, His ability, and His love, do not change.

What an encouragement comes to us by knowing that God still is in the position of answering prayer. That He is the same to all who call on Him. That whosoever cometh unto Him, He will in no wise cast out. That no man can pluck you out of His hand. That whatsoever you ask in Jesus' name you can receive.

How easy it is to believe in His power yesterday or tomorrow. But if you need Him, you need Him to day. He is always the same. Believe. Today.

MADISON COUNTY COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT INVITES PROPOSALS FOR RENTAL HOUSING DEVELOPMENT AND REHABILITATION

Madison County Community Development invites for-profit and non-profit organizations, individuals, and existing rental property owners to submit proposals for development and rehabilitation of rental housing in designated areas in the County including Venice, Madison and Collinsville. Proposals will be accepted through April 25, 1986.

Proposals must meet the guidelines of the Rental Rehabilitation Program to be eligible. The Community Development Department, at its sole discretion, will determine such eligibility.

Successful applicants may receive a 0% interest deferred loan, for 50% of the total rehabilitation cost, up to $5,000 per unit. Payback of the loans will be set up on ten-year terms with payment due in years 6-10. Section 8 vouchers will be made available for tenants of the housing units rehabilitated, if needed.

For projects which demonstrate their ability to meet the program guidelines and carry them out for a period of ten years, the total loan amount may be forgiven during years 6-10.

Preference will be given to rehabilitation proposals which demonstrate feasibility and organizational capability and adherence to the following criteria:

- After rehabilitation, 70% of all units are rented to persons of low and moderate income.
- All housing units will be two bedrooms or more.
- No displacement of existing tenants will take place as a result of the rehabilitation.
- The owner will maintain eligibility for income occupancy for 10 years after rehab.

Proposals must contain the appropriate forms which are available at the Community Development Department. If you intend to submit a proposal for the program and wish a full set of guidelines and criteria, please contact:

Company gets '10' in roofing work

Lakeside Roofing Co., Granite City, has been named a winner of a "Perfect 10" award by Carlisle SynTec Systems for achieving consistent technical excellence in single-ply roofing applications.

The Carlisle SynTec award recognizes roofers who have completed 50 error-free roofing applications as judged by Carlisle SynTec technical personnel.

"This award means that we are quality-conscious," said Charles L. Estes, co-owner of Lakeside Roofing. "Our staff is committed to quality work and quality roofing applications."

The "Perfect 10" award is part of Carlisle's national roofer training and inspection program. In order for a roofing project to be warranted by Carlisle, the roofer must have undergone a three-day training program at the Carlisle SynTec Technical Center, Carlisle, Pa.

Then, every installation is inspected by a Carlisle field technical representative, and any discrepancies are corrected before a warranty can be issued.

Lakeside Roofing Co. is one of the roofing needs of the Southern Illinois and the St. Louis areas. The company has installed single-ply roofing systems for Cahokia School District, SIUE, and several Southern Bell and Illinois Bell buildings.

Carlisle SynTec Systems, a division of the Cincinnati-based Celanese Corp., is the world's leading manufacturer of single-ply elastomeric roofing and water-proofing systems. Carlisle SynTec Systems has representatives and distributors throughout the United States, and in Canada, Europe and the Middle East.

Illinois Bell annual report released

Illinois Bell spent $670 million last year on new telecommunications services, according to the company's annual report released March 19.

Of that amount, $346 million was spent on high-speed, high-capacity transmission facilities to improve the state's ability to attract new businesses and jobs, said Illinois Bell President Ormand J. Wade.

New legislative and regulatory moves also had an impact on the company in 1985.

Illinois Bell met competition with a proposal to restructure the company's calling rates within the Market Service Area in northeastern Illinois. The proposal, made to the Illinois Commerce Commission in July, will help eliminate rate differences and bring prices closer to cost. Total company revenues will change.

The General Assembly passed a public utilities act, replacing the statute under which Illinois Bell had been regulated for 64 years. The new act established guidelines for companies to compete in the telecommunications marketplace.

Noting the importance of digital switching and fiber optics, Wade said Illinois Bell increased its pace in introducing the transmission facilities to strengthen the company's network.

"These cornerstones of telecommunications advances enable us to transmit huge amounts of information more quickly and reliably," Wade said.

Since January 1985, Illinois Bell has added only digital switching systems to its network. Seventeen digital offices and 11 remote switching modules serving more than 300,000 customer lines were put into service in 1985.

Digital switches convert signals into the "on-off" pulses of computer language and make it possible to serve a customer in a variety of information in any form — voice, data, video.

At the beginning of 1985, Illinois Bell had 7,700 miles of fiber optic cable in place. By the end of the year, that amount had increased to more than 17,200 miles installed throughout the state.

Total revenues for 1985 increased to $2,783 billion from $2,688 billion in 1984.

Net earnings were less than expected — $296.2 million as compared to $308.5 million in 1984.

Operating expenses for the year were $1,903 billion, up from 1984's $1,858 billion, with operating expenses of $1,739 billion.

Ownership of the Du Quoin State Fair has been transferred to the state of Illinois.

A fine tradition will not be interrupted, and we will not allow economic opportunity and jobs to slip away," Gov. James Thompson said.

Thompson approved a $1.2 million appropriation to cover early start-up costs of the 1986 fair in the 1986 fiscal year and recommended nearly $5 million to operate the fair in 1987.

The estate closing for more than 1,450 acres of farmland in Carbondale. The closing included all of the fairgrounds and surrounding farmland belonging to the fair. The estate was not completely on several points concerning the residence of Saleh and Melanie Jabr, the home was not conveyed at this time.

This decision casts doubts on all statutes that require administrative rules requiring companies to include information from consumer groups in their mailings," Washburn said.
